

Meadow Pond — what to check in game

Seaplane · fuel can quest · story mode “The Letters”. Tick each box on the iPad (GitHub Pages build). Small bugs are fine to note for a later fix. Desktop keys in brackets.

1. Seaplane at the home jetty

- ☐ The floatplane lies off the north side of the home jetty head, nose to the sea, tied with two lines; its wing passes over the jetty head above head height and does not touch the lamp post.
- ☐ Walk onto the jetty head near it: the plane button appears [B]. Tap it: you turn, step down onto the float and climb into the left seat; you see the instrument panel, yoke and windshield.
- ☐ Fuel meter shows at the top (Fuel 0%, “Tank dry”). Push the left joystick forward: a note says the engine coughs and the tank is dry; the plane does not move.
- ☐ Tap the button again while moored: “Leave the seaplane” puts you back on the jetty deck (not in the water).
- ☐ The boat still boards, sails and docks as before; its board button does not show while you sit in the plane.

2. Fuel can quest (also works outside the story)

- ☐ Six code letters are out in free play: inside the windmill (Millholm), the beach hut (Palm Cay), the observatory (Ember Rock), the marsh lodge (Heron Marsh), by the lighthouse door, and on the islet. Each is an envelope on the floor or on a short post.
- ☐ Look at a letter up close: an envelope icon floats beside it; tap it [E] to read. The letter page shows its lock row and a three-digit code. It is then kept on the journal’s Letters page.
- ☐ The chest with six rows of brass dials stands against the cabin’s east wall. Its lid stays shut when you come near; its icon opens the dial screen instead.
- ☐ Dial screen: six rows (windmill, palm, volcano, heron, lighthouse, shell) of three digits with up/down arrows. “Try the lid” with a wrong code: the panel shakes, “stays shut”.
- ☐ All six right: the lid lifts with a note; open the chest again: a Fuel can is inside the storage. Take it into a quick slot.
- ☐ Carry the can to the seaplane: the plane button now says “Pour the fuel can into the tank”. Tap it: the can is used, the meter shows 100%.
- ☐ Reload the page: the chest stays solved, the plane stays fuelled/unlocked.

3. Flying

---

- ☐ In the plane, moored: push forward to cast off; taxi at walking pace, steer with left/right. The plane stops (does not climb) when it would hit the shore, a jetty or the boat.
- ☐ Hold full throttle on open water: it speeds up and lifts off after ~6 s (about 13 m/s), climbing while you hold forward.
- ☐ In the air: forward = climb, back = descend, left/right = bank and turn; the view tilts with the bank. Height and speed show under the fuel bar.
- ☐ Fly low over the home island holding “descend”: the plane refuses to go lower than ~20 m above the ground and trees; it climbs by itself before hills and the volcano. Try flying straight at Ember Rock low: it pulls up or turns away, never crashes.
- ☐ Fly far out (beyond ~175 m from home): it turns back by itself.
- ☐ Descend over open water: it flares and touches down gently, becoming a boat again (“on the water”). It will not touch down near land or over the shallows (it keeps ~20 m from shore).

- ☐ Taxi slowly (< 3 m/s) near any jetty head (home, lighthouse, any island, either side of the head): the button shows “Tie up at the jetty”; tap: it glides in and ties up. Not at a berth where the boat lies.
- ☐ Moored with less than full tank: “Fill the tank” fills it at any jetty (watch the meter). Then “Leave the seaplane” steps you onto that jetty.
- ☐ Fly until the meter is low: a low-fuel warning at 20%; at 0% the engine stops and the plane glides down onto water; you can still taxi to a jetty.
- ☐ Frame rate stays smooth while flying over the islands (Stats button).

4. Story mode: start and the daily loop

- ☐ Start screen shows “Begin the story” next to “Start exploring”. Tap it: a dark page (“Darkness. Cold...”), tap to wake standing beside the bed at night, winter, fireplace out, cabin lamps off.
- ☐ Top left: “Day 1 · Waking” with two tasks. A letter lies on the bed: read it; the task ticks off.
- ☐ Light the fireplace: the second task ticks; a note says everything for today is done.
- ☐ Sleep in the bed: you wake on Day 2 with its first thought as a note and the new task list. Sleeping without finishing keeps the same day and lists what is missing.
- ☐ Tap the task list: it folds to just the day line; tap again to unfold.
- ☐ Journal: the Story page shows day, chapter, the day’s thought, tasks with ticks, chapters so far and the memories (flashbacks) seen. The Calendar page says the daily tasks rest during the story.
- ☐ Season follows the story: days 1–10 winter, 11–20 spring, ... (check after the jump below).
- ☐ Panel → Story day: type a number and Go jumps there (for checking). Try 10 (a flashback shows: placeholder picture, title, caption), 11 (spring), 47 (chest), 141 (the radio), 182 (the call), 200 (the end).
- ☐ Letters appear only from the day they are needed (e.g. the windmill letter from day 26), and stay once read.

5. Story mode: the last chapters

- ☐ Day 141: find the old radio on the keeper’s table in the lighthouse (ground floor).
- ☐ Days 142–145: a radio valve in the windmill, a copper coil in the marsh lodge, aerial wire in the beach hut, a battery in the observatory (small coloured boxes on the floor) can be picked up.
- ☐ Day 146: at the radio, its icon appears; with the four parts it is mended (note); without them it tells you what is missing.
- ☐ Days 150–195: “Listen to the radio” shows a short page of what you hear.
- ☐ Day 182: “Call Tomas”: the call plays line by line (tap to go on), then the task ticks.
- ☐ Day 200: walk to the end of the home jetty: a blue-and-white seaplane comes in from the east over the lighthouse, touches down and taxis up beside the jetty; then “The End” page. Tap to keep exploring.

6. Things that must still work (regression)

- ☐ Free play (“Start exploring”) still gives the ordinary daily task and calendar.
- ☐ The storage chest behind the cabin still opens normally.
- ☐ Boat: dock at all three berths of a jetty; the boat avoids the berth where the plane is tied up.
- ☐ Fall asleep away from home: on waking, both the boat and the seaplane are back at the home jetty.
